In terms of the specific operational relationships between our offices, you should be aware of the fact that all incoming official mail to my office — irrespective of the manner or to whom it is addressed — is reviewed by me prior to action or staffing. It would, therefore, facilitate consideration if all items sent to my office for action or information were addressed to me.

I hope the above description of the functions and operations of my office are helpful. Please feel free to ask any questions on such clarification.
